

From the moment our eyes met, we connected in a very special way. So much so that just a few months later we became a couple. We soon realized that life together was so much more beautiful; our lives were filled with love, peace, and happiness. Exactly one year after we met, on Thanksgiving Day, we got engaged.
Today we give thanks to life for bringing us together and to you for joining us on this very special day.